

Sojourner Tales

Sojourner Tales is a storytelling boardgame from legendary game designers and best-selling science fiction and fantasy authors Tracy Hickman and Laura Hickman. By combining strategic gameplay on the board with an electronic storybook, the experience can be new and exciting each time! The game supports different genres and different styles of play by simply loading up a new storybook. Players hunt the board for matching story disks, revealing more of the story as play progresses. The first player to collect all of their story disks completes the story and wins the game!

Selling Points For Players:

- Strategic movement mechanics on the board married to choices and story with the book.
- Infinitely expandable game using downloadable eBooks (can be printed if needed)—5 tales available upon launch with more added regularly.
- Family-friendly game, with tone and style varying depending on the chosen story.

Selling Points For Retailers:

- From the legendary game designers (and best-selling authors) of Ravenloft and Dragonlance: Tracy & Laura Hickman.
- Great “investment” game as it has high level of replayability with different stories and styles available.
- Support & bonus material on SignalFireStudios.com, SojournerTales.com, and social media.
